THE PRINCE'S TRUST

INSPIRING YOUNG LIVES

West Yorkshire and Harrogate Excellence Centre Spotlight on Success

The Prince's Trust was set up by HRH The Prince of Wales to help young people get their lives on track. It supports 11 to 30 year olds who are unemployed and those struggling at school or at risk of exclusion.

Over the course of last year, The Trust empowered over 58,000 young people to turn their lives around. It has returned £1.4 billion in value to society through its schemes aimed at young people over the last 10 years.

The Trust has three main initiatives:

- Start your business
- Get a job
- Build your confidence

Specific programmes such as the 'Get into...' initiative have proven to be very beneficial for the health and social care sector. 'Get into Health and Social Care' is a joint effort with the NHS to give young people the opportunity to gain experience and confidence in the care sector.

Employers can contact The Prince's Trust to arrange opportunities like these with their organisations.

The benefits for employers running this scheme are:

- Enabling early preparation of potential professionals
- Allowing young people to become familiar within the workplace, creating potential pre-trained employees
- Opening up the opportunity for the organisation to bring 'new blood' and fresh ideas into the team
- Enabling your organisation to work with young people, improving their approach towards equity of opportunity

Leeds Teaching Hospital Trust runs the 'Get into Health and Social Care' programme within their hospitals. They have had brilliant uptake and good results from the programme. A great example is from an applicant called Kate who struggled through her A Levels due to dyslexia. She applied to be part of the programme and was successful. After completing her placement, she became passionate about working in health and care and got an apprenticeship to become a Clinical Support Worker.

Over 6,000 young people have secured jobs through the 'Get Into' courses.
